The City of Roeland Park Celebrates House Bill 2562

Signed into law by Gov. Laura Kelly on April 19

The City of Roeland Park has been working diligently the past few years to remove racist language and racially restrictive covenants from property records in Roeland Park. The City, along with its partners, drafted numerous versions of legislation to provide a simple method for removal of the discriminatory language. The City even amended its municipal non-discrimination ordinance in 2020 to outlaw racist covenants. The work has paid off, and a new state law provides an easier way to remove racist language from property records. Signed into law by Gov. Laura Kelly on April 19, an amended section of House Bill 2562 creates the option to redact discriminatory language from recorded documents and re-record them so that those redacted documents will become the prevailing record going forward.

“We are grateful to our partners who helped make this bill a reality including Senator Corson, Representative Xu, City Attorney Steve Mauer and Stuart Little of Little Government Relations, Johnson County, and other cities with similar discriminatory property records that lent their support to this legislative effort,” said City Administrator, Keith Moody. The city has identified the plats and covenants with discriminatory language and will work to redact this language and record new plat and covenant documents without such language.

The bill's amendment states that any restrictive covenant in property deeds that violates state housing discrimination laws is “void and unenforceable.” The amendment also allows individual property owners to remove racist deed restrictions through a certificate filed with the register of deeds. The City of Roeland Park will update the community as it works through the process to remove the discriminatory language from property records within the City.

Letter From Mayor Poppa

Neighbors,

The city of Roeland Park was founded in 1951; unfortunately, drive-in theaters and Elvis dancing in his Blue Suede Shoes weren't the only things happening at that time. Racial tension and violence were continuing to spread like wildfire throughout the United States, including Kansas. These racially charged actions were not only evident in daily living, but they were also prevalent in education, transportation, medicine, financial institutions and housing. It is difficult to imagine that the close-knit community we are today, was possibly involved in former Federal Housing Administration (FHA) practices that ostracized and alienated people of color who wanted to build their family legacy here. One example of this was FHA lending discrimination laws such as redlining, which limited black families' access to homeownership.

We have come a long way against these racial injustices, but with humility, can admit that society still has a long way to go. Today, it is an honor to announce that the City of Roeland Park has helped pass legislation at the state level that makes it easier to remove racist covenants from official plats and deeds in Kansas.

As your mayor, it is my responsibility to ensure that our city evolves into a "melting pot" filled with diversity, equity and inclusion for all people, both residents and visitors. As a community, it is our duty to keep being neighborly and cultivating an atmosphere that feels inviting and welcoming to all. With society rapidly progressing, I am fully committed to moving this city forward by continuing to make decisions that will positively impact you and your family; and extend the legacy of Roeland Park now and moving forward.

All the best,
Mayor Michael Poppa

Invasive Plant Species

By Melissa Castillo, Sustainability Committee

According to the Kansas Department of Agriculture, 23% of the plant species in Kansas are invasive. Invasive plants are those that came from other regions of the country or world and whose introduction causes economic or environmental harm, or harm to human health. They become a problem because there are no natural predators to control them. Why does that matter? Once established, they can permanently alter the soil structure, disrupt native plant communities, reduce dependent wildlife populations, and impact long-term forest productivity (see www.kansasforests.org).

Invasive plants prevalent in Roeland Park include Bush Honeysuckle, Callery Pear trees, Tree of Heaven, and Winter Creeper. For a complete list of invasive plant species in Kansas, see <https://www.kansasnativeplantsociety.org/>

InvasivePlantFactSheet. Bush Honeysuckle (Lonicera spp.) grows into a dense shrub that can reach 20 feet tall. They are typically found at forest edges, along roadsides, and in fence lines. They are spread by birds and small mammals that eat the berries and distribute them. They leaf out earlier in the spring than most natives. The leaves are opposite (as opposed to alternating) and 2-3 inches long with smooth edges. They flower in early spring with flowers that start out white and turn yellowish. Small red or orange berries appear along the stem, typically in pairs, during the fall.

less than 1 foot thick. The fruits are tiny hard brown pears about ½ inch in diameter.

Tree of Heaven (Ailanthus altissima) grows very rapidly, can grow in very poor soil, and is drought tolerant. At maturity it can reach 60-75 feet. The leaves are from 1 to 4 feet long with 10-40 leaflets oppositely arranged along a central stem. The leaves have a repugnant smell like burnt peanut butter. In late spring to early summer, yellowish greenish flowers appear, which also have a foul smell. The female flowers then produce reddish seed pods called samaras. A mature tree can produce 300,000 seeds per year. Tree of Heaven is invasive in 30 of the 50 states. Not only does it grow everywhere and quickly, but it also produces toxins that prevent native plants from growing nearby.

Winter Creeper (Euonymus fortunei) is a woody perennial with evergreen leaves that can grow as a groundcover, a shrub, or a vine. It spreads rapidly by vine and from birds spreading the seeds. It can grow in full sun or full shade and can tolerate almost all soil conditions. It covers the ground, choking out native spring ephemerals, and it climbs trees, eventually killing them. Even if you have never planted Winter Creeper, check your trees for vines. Many of the vines start at the base of mature trees, in between the root flares where it's hard for lawnmowers or weed eaters to reach. That is also where bush honeysuckle can start.

For all four of these invasive plants, small plants can be pulled by hand. Larger shrubs and trees will need to be cut down and the stumps immediately treated with an herbicide, because they can easily resprout from untreated stumps. Read and follow the label on any herbicide treatment. Don't wait more than five minutes after cutting the stump to apply the herbicide, as the tissue will close and make the herbicide less effective or ineffective. Be vigilant in pulling sprouts that may come up around the treated stump. You may have to reapply the herbicide for a few seasons before the plant dies completely. Several cities in the metro area offer Callery Pear buyback programs in the spring, where they will donate a free tree to replace a Callery Pear that you cut down from your property. See <https://climategkc.org/callery-pear-buy-back-programs-in-greater-kc-topeka/>.

Callery Pear Trees (also sold as Bradford, Aristocrat, and Cleveland Select) (Pyrus calleryana) were widely planted in Kansas for use in residential landscapes. They were supposed to be infertile, but cross-pollination has allowed them to reproduce. Birds carry the fruits and disperse the seeds. Callery pear trees are spreading rapidly and are very difficult to eradicate. They have taken over roadways, woodlands, and grasslands. Their threat to local ecosystems far outweighs their use as a decorative lawn tree. Callery Pear trees flower early in the spring with five-petaled white flowers that don't overlap at the bases. The leaves are alternately arranged, rounded or teardrop-shaped, thick, waxy, and approximately 1½ to 3 inches long and wide. The leaf edge is finely toothed and has a distinct ripple or wave. The trees are small, usually less than 40 feet tall with trunks

Composting Made Easy with KC Can Compost

“The average Kansas City resident produces 102 tons of garbage in a lifetime - up to 60% could be used to create soil instead of methane.” ~KC Can Compost

The City of Roeland Park is partnering with Price Chopper and KC Can Compost to make it easier for you to compost your food scraps and reduce your personal carbon footprint. For $12.99/month, Roeland Park residents can subscribe and receive a 5 gallon bucket with a compostable liner where you can dispose of any food product - we're talking produce, meat, bones, bread product, in addition to plants, paper towels, pizza delivery boxes, and uncoated paper take-out boxes, just to name a few.

To get started, sign up at kccancompost.com where you can select a 5 gallon bucket and/or a countertop container. Use coupon code RPCOMPOSTING to get 20% off your first month's subscription. Then bring your receipt to Roeland Park City Hall where you can pick up your containers and compostable liners. You can drop off your compostable liner filled with kitchen scraps as much as you need to at Price Chopper on Roe Blvd. The KC Can Compost bin is located outside the store on the northeast corner.

In addition to diverting waste from landfills, KC Can Compost also trains people with barriers to employment for work in green industry jobs. Through their Green Core Training program, participants learn environmental literacy and work readiness as well as assistance obtaining a job or internship in the sustainability sector.

Education Enrichment: A Summer Program for Your Kiddo

With summer right around the corner, it's common for some families to wonder about what to do with their children when school's out. Well, there is good news if you are one of those families! The Shawnee Mission School District (SMSD) is offering their Summer Enrichment program that has been operating for 30+ years. Summer Enrichment classes are for students currently in grades K-7 (2023-2024 school year) and are offered to non-SMSD kids as well. Additionally, for students meeting class age requirements, there is a pre-k class for early learners. All classes are designed to develop new interests and skills through participatory learning activities. These classes are opportunities for students to enjoy new learning that is not based on school district regular curriculum.

This program will be held at Westridge Middle School located at 9300 Nieman, Overland Park, KS 66216 and it runs from June 10th-July 19th. The deadline to apply is June 7th. For more information on tuition, lunch options and the program class catalog, visit www.smsd.org or contact the program's principle, Linda Long at LindaLong@smsd.org or 913-993-8725.

The Lemonade Stand That Influenced The Buena Vista Traffic Calming Analysis

By Malia Johnson

On July 15th, 2023, a speeding driver struck a 9-year-old girl who was selling lemonade at 51st and Buena Vista. When Corporal Magee and Sergeant Stamper responded, the child was lying in the grass with injuries to her legs and feet.

“The next thing I remember was one of my friend’s screaming and I saw our lemonade sign blowing out into the street. At that point, I was lying in the grass and had no idea what happened to me.” the victim told Cpl. Magee. She was taken to the hospital and has since recovered from her injuries.

Fortunately, officers were able to use video footage to locate the suspect, but he alluded arrest for several months. Officers were able to arrest the suspect after recognizing the vehicle at the Roeland Park Quick Trip.

The Lemonade Stand That Influenced The Buena Vista Traffic Calming Analysis

RPPD received 23 official traffic enforcement requests in 2023 and 12 thus far in 2024. The lemonade stand incident triggered an urgency to address speeding concerns on Buena Vista. At the behest of a group of residents, the Council directed the City Engineer to conduct a traffic calming analysis for Buena Vista. Traffic calming is when physical design and other measures are used to improve safety for motorists, pedestrians and cyclists. This particular analysis is focused on improving pedestrian safety.

The first step of this process, was surveying residents to determine the preferred calming element design options. The City held an additional neighborhood meeting to further discuss traffic calming on Buena Vista in late May 2024. The next step, per the City Traffic Calming Policy, requires a minimum of 60% support from the property owners along a corridor where traffic calming elements are proposed. The proposed design concept will be mailed to the impacted property owners seeking their response. If 60% of property owners are supportive, the Council will then be asked for direction on when a project should be planned. City engineers are recommending raised crosswalks and traffic circles for Buena Vista. If you live on Buena Vista, please be sure to provide your thoughts on the proposed improvements. Your voice counts!

The city is committed to improving the safety of the Roeland Park community one step at a time. If you want more information on this project, please contact City Hall at 913-722-2600. To increase traffic enforcement in your area please call the non-emergency police line at 913-677-3363 or complete a traffic enforcement form on our website.
